ACADEMICS

T.C.S. Students Enthusiastically

Margie, Lorrie, and Jeff look over part of the materials used in their daily Bible study in the third grade. How exciting when students explore the land and times of Christ.

Jill Zuber and Doug Flanders try to come to an agreement on the lands of the Bible as they discuss the Holy Land. The sixth grade class, prompted by the heavy interest of their teacher, created a tremendous missions convention booth on the nation of Israel.

Cross The Threshold Of Learning

Margie, what are you doing?
A new way to sharpen the pencil, maybe?

The talents and abilities of a child are many.

Perhaps Cynthia will be able to explain the problem to all the guys in the class shortly.

"School Days" Take

Bro. Gary Smith makes the daily Chapel times an unforgettable experience.

It's just about time to go to the gym and the fourth grade troops look like it's past time.

February 14th means Valentine Day and the sixth graders celebrated it with a party and valentine box contest.

Mmm... All looks like me!

On The Luster Of Youth

The teacher says, "We've got to learn how to be ladies too." And so, an education becomes more than just 'book learning' . . . it also involves many of the other essentials of life.

What's this, Tammy? A Bible Sword Drill, maybe? T.C.S. pupils frequently sharpen their reading skills by using the "Book of all Books" to recite from. Parents especially appreciate the high academic excellence combined with heavy emphasis on Biblical principles.

The Excitement Of Learning Makes

Learning can be fun and interesting as Mrs. Mayo proves in her own exciting way. First graders drill on the all-important phonics rules for reading.

Art work is more than just a piece of paper and crayon. It's a learning situation that often includes a Bible story. Third graders proudly display their creative abilities while giving all visitors a ready "re-run" of the Bible stories they depicted.

ees

Education Fun

Work is sometimes understood better when we get in small groups and really "get down to business."

These ladies excitedly compare heights and growth.

"Healthy and Free" is more than a bulletin board . . . It depicts the principles of a healthy body and free spiritual choice which TCS was founded upon.

Persevering Study

"Whatever thy hand findest to do . . . do it with all thy might."

Miss Torrence listens as a Kindergarten child explains some of her newly learned facts.

This is the tenth interruption today!!

T.C.S.'s sixth grade was the highest grade offered in the 1972-'73 term.

Trains The Leaders Of Tomorrow

The "Bookworm" has inspired several students to read over 50 books this school year. The Worm grows almost every day as 3rd graders read more books.

Reading is one of the most important and necessary tools of education. Unless one can read well they will have difficulty in every other subject. TCS has a strong emphasis in Phonics and encourages all students to read on a regular and challenging basis.

Mr. Foskey does boardwork with one group of children while Mrs. Crews works with the others. The first grade enjoyed the benefits of "team teaching."

T.C.S. Accepts The C

David Ford receives some individual help from Mr. Walker on some of his work. The small teacher-pupil ratio made much personal attention possible at T.C.S.

others. The

"I didn't know that problem was on the test!"

Mrs. Crews gives special personal attention. How nice to be someone "special" and not just a "number."

pts The Challenge Of Shaping Character

*Bless their baby hearts!
K.C.*

April and Larry say it's time to give the books some old-fashion concentrated study / Upper grades stressed development of mental self-discipline and independent study.

Keith Jarrard looks for a good book in the TCS Library. A ferris wheel library? Makes reading fun!

Christian
"the little pumpkin"
K.C.

Reading, writing, and even arithmetic take on a different hue in a Christian School. Some say it's the personal attention a student gets . . . others say the environment makes the difference . . . others say it must be the sincere Christian concern of the teachers . . . while others claim the total philosophy of the Christian school and its approach to education "makes the difference." Whatever the argument may be for TCS, anyone can tell the difference very quickly.

"The Pause That Refreshes" . . . Mr. Walker ponders the day and its problems.

Educational Principles Reap Rich Rewards

Fifth grade students take a "picture break" and wonder what's up next.

Tommy Taylor seems to know something that he's just not talking about.

Helpers are always needed and you're never too small or too big to start.

"Mold A Child's Mind And You

Drill . . . Drill . . . Drill. Third grade students go through the daily drill routines that make addition, subtraction, and multiplication tables a breeze.

First graders learn early in life that the telephone is a very essential part of everyday living. Freshly-memorized home phone numbers become an exciting accomplishment for the day.

You

Shape A Man's Destiny"

The "end of another day" brings good memories and bad . . . a treasured moment . . . a broken heart . . . a sincere prayer . . . a dream. A teacher is the "molder of minds."

Boardwork provides essential clarity.

Edith Bone concentrates on the art of being "diligent in business."

Her formula seems to be rather common to the serious students of the school: "Hard work + perseverance = success."

Don't let this picture fool you -
I could never get a lick of work out of her! he he
K.C.

How nice it is to have a small enough class to get some extra help in time of need. Miss Corker and Penny Bagwell find out that two heads are better than one any day.

Happiness Is: Attending T.C.S.

Chow Time . . . A time to pause, get new strength, and think about 3:00.

Little minds learn early the joys of accomplishment.

It's been a good day . . . Faculty Meeting's over . . . Now let's go home.

Fifth and Sixth Grades say nothing tastes as good as their own home table of food; but these hot meals sure do a good job of "controlling that appetite."

Nobody loses any time getting acquainted with these meals at noontime.

Of Achievement During '73 School Term

STUDENT LIFE

Third grade girls find amusing ways to spend their breaks. This game is called "peek through the air vents" and proves exciting when the adjoining class is engaging in a special activity.

David Rutledge sets his eyes squarely on the pitcher, being "all business" in wanting to knock a "homer" during the afternoon phys ed period.

T.C.S. — Life Enjoyed Many Facets

Scott Bruce and Ricky Bone excitedly experience their first taste of basketball on a full-size gym floor. We just stopped the action for this quick picture.

Wanda Cochran, Shiela Knick, and Denise Thomas enjoy the food and fun that always comes with lunchtime. Kindergartners eagerly prove their knowledge of phonics.

Straining for the rebound, TCS fellas learn early the thrill of a competitive sport and a game well-played. "Perhaps someday," they dream, "we'll be as tall as Mr. Fosky!"

Physical Education Str

*Looks are deceiving →

"One, two, three, four," chant Miss Corker and Miss Wellborn while the girls engage in some strenuous warm-up exercises.

Learning to be a real man and take care of yourself becomes great fun when wrestling becomes the phys ed program for the day. At T.C.S. we stress the importance of a healthy body, as well as a sound mind and spirit.

Before preparing for swimming class, a few of the gals stop by the pool to check out the water temperature.

Stressed As Vital Part Of Education

How tremendous to realize the topnotch facilities which the Lord has provided.

T.C.S. Student Life Ranges

Beautiful highlights like the arrival of Crystal, the Fosky's precious baby girl, made 1973 unforgettable.

Eddie Johnson and Mr. Walker kiddingly pause to tease each other. Students find their teachers to be not only their instructors, but also their friends.

Trampolines provide lots of laughs and "free airplane rides," as the boys begin to learn control over their body muscles and coordination.

From 'Teasing To Travel To Trampoline'

Under the protective gaze of a school patrolman, students pile off the bus and hurry on to classes.

Alas, the station wagon has again showed her stubborn nature!

What a change of pace! Jeremy decides to use the old-fashioned method of discipline which has worked so effectively with him . . . on Mr. Fosky himself!

Words are inadequate to express the lasting impact daily Chapel service left upon the students. Such beautiful times of worship proved to be a common scene as students learned to love the Christ who died for them.

None can minister in chapel like Brother Gary; and many of the children will quickly tell you "he's my favorite preacher!" His daily ministry brought the Word of God alive to the hearts of each T.C.S. pupil.

Jennifer Zuber and Margie Thorpe worship the greatest Friend a girl could ever have.

So very young, yet so very much aware of the reality of Jesus Christ and the Word of God. Daily T.C.S. Chapel times function on the Biblical promise that if we "train up a child in the way he should go, when he is old he shall not depart from it."

Give Bulwark Of Spiritual Experience

Spellbound with the account of a favorite Old Testament hero, T.C.S.'ers eagerly share insights into the Word and answer Biblical questions.
